Poetry.

What I Live For.

I live for those that love me,
For those I know are true,
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And awaits my spirit too,
For all human ties that bind me,
For the task that God assigned me,
For the bright hopes left behind me,
And the good that I can do.

I live to learn their story
Who've suffered for my sake,
To emulate their glory,
And follow in their wake.
Bards, patriots, martyrs, sages,
The noble of all ages,
Whose deeds crowd History's pages,
And time's great volume make.

I live to hold communion,
With all that is divine,
To feel there is a union,
'Twixt nature's heart and mine,
To profit by affliction,
Reap truths from fields of fiction,
Grow wiser from conviction,
And fulfill each grand design.

I live to hail that season,
By gifted minds foretold,
When men shall live by reason,
And not alone by gold.
When man to man united,
And every wrong thing righted,
The whole world shall be lighted,
As Eden was of old.

I live for those who love me,
For those who know me true,
For the heaven that smiles above me,
And waits my spirit too.
For the cause that lacks assistance,
For the wrongs that need resistance,
For the future in the distance,
For the good that I can do.

Snake-Charmers.

Mr. Hay relates that, while in Tunis, he met a party of Eisowy, or snakecharmers: they consisted of four Soosys, or native of the province of Soos; three of whom were musicians, three instruments being long rude canes, resembling in front a flute, but open at both ends, into one of which the performer blew, producing melancholy but pleasing notes.

We invited the Eisowy to exhibit their snakes: to this they readily assented. They commenced by raising up their hands as if they were holding a book, muttering in unison a prayer addressed to the Deity, and calling upon Seedna Eiser, who in Morocco is held as the patron saint of snake-charmers. Having concluded this invocation the music struck up, and the snake charmer danced in rapid whirls, which no Strauss could have kept time to around the basket containing the reptiles.—This basket was made of cane-work covered with goat's skin. Stopping suddenly, the snake-charmer thrust his bare arm into the basket, and pulled out a large black cobra capella, or hooded snake. This he handled as if it had been his turban, and proceeded to twine it around his head, dancing as before while the reptile seemed to obey his wishes by preserving its position on his head. The cobra was then placed on its tail, moved its head to and fro apparently keeping time to the music. Now whirling round in circles still more rapidly than before, the Eisowy again put his head into the basket, and pulled out successively and placed on the ground two very poisonous species of serpents, natives of the desert of Soos, called Iceffa. They were of a mottled colour, with black spots; were thick in the body, and not above two feet and a half or three feet long. These reptiles proved more active and less docile than the cobra; for, half-coiled, and holding their heads in a slanting position ready for an attack, they watched with sparkling eyes the movements of the charmer, darting at him with open jaws every now and then, as he ventured within their reach, and throwing forward their body with amazing velocity, while their tail appeared to remain on the same spot, and then recoiling back again. The Eisowy warded off with his long haik, the attacks which they made upon his bare legs, and the Iceffas seemed to expend their venom upon the garment.

Now, calling on Seedna Eiser, he seized hold of one of the two serpents by the nape of the neck, and danced round with it; then opening its jaws with a small stick, he displayed to the spectators the fangs, from which there oozed a white and oily substance. He then put the Iceffa to his arm, which it immediately seized with its teeth, while the man, making hideous contortions, as if in pain, whirled rapidly around, calling on his patron saint. The reptile continued its bite until the Eisowy took it off, and showed us the blood which it had drawn.

Having laid the Iceffa down, he then put the bitten part of his arm into his mouth, and pressing it with his teeth, danced for several minutes, while the music played more rapidly than ever till, apparently being quite exhausted, he again halted.

Conceiving that the whole was a trick—that the Iceffa had been bereft of its poison, and that its bite consequently would be as harmless as that of a rat, I requested to be allowed to handle the serpent.

"Are you an Eisowy?" said the man of Soos, "or have you steady faith in the power of our saint?"

I replied in the negative.

"Then," said he, "if the snake bites you, your hour is come! Bring me a fowl or any animal, and I will give you sure proof ere you attempt to touch a Iceffa."

A fowl was brought, and part of the feathers having been plucked, the serpent was again taken up by the charmer, and allowed to bite the fowl for an instant. The bird was put on the ground, and after running around as if in a fit for about a minute, tottered and fell dead. Its flesh became shortly afterwards of a bluish hue. It is needless to say, that after this I declined handling the Iceffa.

The only way that I can account for the Eisowy escaping unharmed from the bite of the snake is, that either he prevents the Iceffa, when in the act of seizing his arm, from using its fangs, and that the blood which is drawn by the teeth only of the reptile, which are distinct from its fangs, or else that the Eisowy possesses an antidote to the poison, and that he puts it into his mouth, and applies it to the bitten part during the dance.

Sabbath for the Working Man.

BY JOHN ALLAN QUINTON.

But cheer thee, child of travail! The blessed Sabbath is thine own! It is the excellent gift of thy maker—see, then, that no man rob thee of the boon! It is the heirloom of thy family—see that it be not alienated from their possession! It is a sacred inheritance bequeathed by successive generations of the godly—see, then, that its frail fences are kept unbroken; and that its fruitful soil is not, through neglect, cursed with sterility and nakedness! The fifty-two Sabbaths of rest with which the year is interspersed are like patches of verdure, watered by ever-springing fountains, that dot the inhospitable wilderness, and invite its fainting travellers to exhilaration and repose. They are the ports that fringe the sea of human industry, in which the distressed bark may find a sure anchorage, and where it may renew its outfit for time and for eternity.

Oh, precious day! the workman's jubilee—the slaves's release—the shield of servitude—the antidote of weariness—the suspension of the curse! How it smoothes the brow of Care! How it brightens the face of Gloom! How it braces the inervated limbs of Labour! How it revives the drooping spirit of Despair! How it gives wings to the clogged affections and aspirations of the soul! How it pours some drops of sweetness on the bitterest lot; and sheds some gleams of sunshine athwart the saddest heart! How it lifts the groveller from his low pursuits, and fills him with a noble self-respect! How it extinguishes the jealousies and rivalries of week-day occupations, and links men's hearts in the bonds of brotherhood! It does homage to the glorious attributes of the man even when it finds him in the condition of the serf. In most cases it proclaims to the servant equal liberty with the master. It is a perpetual rebuke to the reigning rapacity of the world. It deals out, with even-handed justice, the essential rights of manhood to all classes alike: and is designed to protect the poor from the bribes of wealth, and the weak from the encroachment of power.

Companions in labour! think how the abstraction of the Sabbath would hopelessly enslave the working classes, with whom we are identified. Think of labour thus going on in one monotonous and eternal cycle—the limbs forever on the rack—the fingers forever playing—the eye balls forever straining—the brow forever sweating—the feet forever plodding—the brain forever throbbing—the shoulders forever drooping—the loins forever aching—and the restless mind forever scheming. Think—as your imagination beholds the unvarying wheel of work, the treadmill of labour, thus going round, without a change, without a pause from morn to night, from noon to noon, and from year to year—think, if you can, of the desolations that must follow this absolute reign of Labour over the whole realm of time. Think of the beauty it would efface, of the merry-heartedness it would extinguish, of the aspirations it would crush, of the sickness that it would breed, of the projects it would wreck, of the groans that it would extort, of the lives that it would immolate, and of the cheerless graves that it would prematurely dig! See them toiling and moiling, sweating and fretting, grinding and hewing, weaving and spinning, strewing and gathering, sowing and reaping, razing and building, digging and planting, unlading and stirring, striving and struggling—in the garden and in the field, in the granary and in the barn, in the factory and in the mill, in the warehouse and in the shop, on the mountain and in the ditch, on the road-side and in the wood, in the city and in the country, on the sea and on the shore, on the earth and in the earth—in days of brightness and days of gloom—in hours of sun and seasons of storm—in times of trouble and times of peace—in the heights of day and in the depths of night—through the savageness of winter and the gentleness of spring—in the energy of youth and in the impotence of old age, when health is merrily dancing in the blood, and when disease is eating up the strength—when death is in the lonely home, and when happy life encircleth the hearth—thus the wheel of labour would go round with the earth, and the children of industry, chained to its surface, must follow its ruinous circumvolutions, till exhausted by unnatural efforts, they relax their hold, drop off, and suddenly disappear!

Live within Your Means.

We don't like stinginess. We don't like 'economy,' when it comes down to rags and starvation; and we have no sympathy with the notion that a poor man should hitch himself to a post and stand still while the rest of the world moves forward. It is no man's duty to make an iceberg of himself—to shut his eyes and ears to the sufferings of his fellows—and to deny himself the enjoyment that results from generous actions—merely that he may hoard wealth for his heirs to quarrel about.

But there is yet an economy which is every man's duty, and which is especially commendable in the man who struggles with poverty—and economy which is consistent with happiness, and which must be practiced, if the poor man would secure independence.

It is almost every man's privilege; and becomes his duty, to live within his means; not up to, but within them. Wealth does not make the man, we admit, and should never be taken into account in our judgment of men.—But competence should always be secured when it can be, by practice of economy and self-denial to only a tolerable extent. It should be secured not so much for others to look at, or raise us in the estimation of others, as to secure the consciousness of independence and the constant satisfaction which is derived from its acquirement and possession.

For the sake of the present, then, as well as for the sake of the future, we would most earnestly urge upon every working man to live within his means. Let him lay something every day—if but a penny—be it a penny; it is better than nothing, infinitely better than running in debt a penny a day, or a week. If he can earn one dollar, let him try, fairly, and faithfully the experiment of living on ninety cents. He will like it.—Utica Telegraph.

A Burial-Place

What a multitude of thoughts crowd upon the mind in the contemplation of such a scene! How much of the future, even in its farthest distant searches, rises before us in all its pervasive realities! Take but one little narrow space of time, and how affecting are its associations! Within the flight of one half a century, how many of the great and good, and the wise will be gathered here! How many, in the loveliness of infancy, the beauty of youth, the vigor of manhood, and the maturity of age, will lie down here, and dwell in the bosom of the mother earth! The rich and the poor, the gay and the wretched, the favorites of thousands and the forsaken of the world, the stranger in his solitary grave, and the patriarch, surrounded by the kindred of a long lineage! How many will here bury their brightest hopes or blasted expectations! How many bitter tears will here be shed! How many agonizing sighs will here be heaved! How many trembling feet will cross the path-ways, and, returning, leave behind them the dearest objects of their reverence or their love!—Everett.

Miscellany.

☞ Truest love is the offspring of the steadiest mind.

☞ He who is false to present duty breaks a thread in the loom, and will find the flaw when he may have forgotten its cause.

Our best actions are often those of which we are unconcious; but this can never be unless we are always yearning to do good.

It was the saying of Sir Robert Peel: 'I never knew a man to escape failure, either in mind or body, who worked seven days in the week.'

☞ If a man is odious in society, he might as well be in prison. The worst prisons are not of stone; they are of throbbing hearts, outraged by an infamous life.

☞ We sleep, but the loom of life never stops; and the pattern which was weaving when the sun went down is weaving when it comes up to-morrow.

☞ Men who neglect Christ, and try to win heaven through moralities, are like sailors at sea in a storm; who pull, some at the bowsprit and some at the mainmast, but never touch the helm.

☞ One might as well attempt to calculate mathematically the contingent forms of the tinkling bits of glass in a kaleidoscope as to look through the tube of the future and foretel its pattern.

☞ To know, and to think that we know not, is the highest pitch of merit. Not to know, and to think we know, is the common malady of men. If you are afflicted of this malady, you will not be infected with it.

☞ What if the parent bird should sit, nervous and fluttering, upon the bough, when the young ones were hatching, and mourn because its beautiful eggs shells were being broken? Yet that is what we do. We have joys and truths deep as eternity committed to us in the egg form, and the shell must needs be chipped before they can be born, and fly, full fledged, singing towards the gate of heaven. Yet we grieve and fear, and cling still to the undeveloped egg.

☞ O important ones! Did the leaves say nothing to you as they murmered, when you came hither to-day? They were not created this spring, but months ago; and the summer just begun will fashion others for another year. At the bottom of every leaf stem is a cradle, and in it is infant germ; and the wind will rock it, and the birds will to it all summer long and next season it will unfold. So God, is working for you, and carrying forward to the perfect development all the processes of your lives.

In my garden at the West, I used sometimes to notice that the finest heads of lettuce were not in the beds, but on some southern ridge, where they had chanced to grow. It seemed as though random seeds always did the best, from a kind of emulation; but they never grew without the sowing, and the chance sowed seed was never wild.

If you shake the tree you can bring down fruit, no doubt; but I remember, when a boy the persuasion to get up early out of bed was the thought of the large white apples that lay beneath the trees, awaiting the first comer—but had dropped upon the grass in the silent night, almost without a breath of wind to stir the branches. Now I think a man ought to carry his branches full of fruit, that like the apple which drop from the silent dew, they will fall by the weight of their own ripeness for whoever needs to be refreshed. We should go home to the thrashing floor like a great harvest wagon full of sheaves, which at every jolt casts down ears for the gleaners, and stray seeds for the birds, and now and then a chance handful, which, blown by winds into nooks and corners, comes up to grow, and to bless another generation.

Parliamentary.

House of Assembly.

FRIDAY, August 6.

The Speaker took the chair at three o'clock.

Mr. Ross moved that the Speaker do issue his warrant for writs for new elections in the counties of Leri and Iberville, vacancies having been caused in the representation of those counties by the acceptance of offices of emolument under the Crown by Hon. Mr. Lemieux and Mr. Laberge—Carried.

Mr. Ross said he thought it was time that McCullough, who had been laying in gaol for months without a change of clothes on account of his participation in the Lotbiniere Election frauds, should be liberated. He moved that the Speaker do issue his warrant accordingly to the keeper of the Toronto Gaol.—Carried.

THE ESSEX ELECTION.

The Speaker stated that application had been made to him to issue his warrant for the re-assembling of the Election Committee in the contested election of the county of Essex, as the Committee could not meet in consequence of two members having vacated their seats, and the Chairman having vacated his seat. He thought the right course would be to authorize the Committee to meet to elect a Chairman, and to receive the evidence which had been taken by the County Judge.

Hon. Mr. Sicotte made a few remarks on the wording of the law applicable to the point raised, and stated his opinion that the course suggested by the Speaker was the only action that could be taken.

Hon. Mr. Harwood introduced a bill to amend an error in the Act 18 Vic, cap 112 relating to the building of Churches in Lower Canada.

Second reading to-morrow.

THE MINISTERIAL CRISIS.

Hon. Mr. Sicotte then rose and said—I am instructed to inform the House that Hon. Mr. Cartier has been called to undertake the charge of forming an Administration, and that he had received the co-operation of Hon. John A. Macdonald to help him in the task. (Cries of "Hear hear," and laughter.) I am also instructed to inform the House that the arrangements are not yet completed, but that it is the expectation of the gentlemen entrusted with the task, to complete the arrangements by to-morrow. And as to morrow is a day devoted to private business, and as it is desirable that the day should not be lost, I am instructed to move that the House do adjourn till to-morrow at eleven o'clock, by which time it is expected that the arrangements will be completed and announced to the house.

Mr. Piche (reading from a slip contalning the speech of the Hon. J. A. Macdonald, this day week, when time was asked for the carrying out of the negotiations by Mr. Brown)—The House cannot do else than accede to the request of the hon. member—[laughter]—but I need not say to my hon. friend at this late period of the session—

Mr. Ferres—Order!

The Speaker—Let the hon. gentleman state the point of order.

Mr. Ferres—I wish to know whether it is in order for the hon. gentleman to read his speech. (Hisses.)

Mr. Piche—(continuing to read the speech)—But I need not say to my hon, friend that at this late period of the session, and in the present state of the business, it is to be hoped that there will be all reasonable speed in making the new arrangements. (Cheers and laughter.)

The House then adjourned till to-morrow (Saturday) at eleven o'clock.

SATURDAY, Aug. 7, 1858.

The House met at 11 A. M.

Mr. Dubord after speaking of the corruptions and bad management prevailing in the Board of Works, moved for leave to introduce a Bill to do away with the office of Assistant Commissioner of Public Works.

Mr. Mackenzie said that this motion was a mere piece of clap-trap, and wished to know if any notice had been given of it.

Mr. Dubord had not given notice and would withdraw his motion which he chiefly intended as a hint to the government.

Hon. Mr. Cartier: Mr. Speaker—I have the honor to announce to the House that on Wednesday afternoon, after the resignation of the last Ministry, His Excellency the Governor General called upon the late member for Sherebrooke and asked him his help in the formation of a Ministry. After some interviews had taken place between His Excellency and Mr. Galt, the latter declined to undertake the important task, upon which His Excellency expressed to Mr. Galt his desire that he would be kind enough to wait upon me, in order that I should at once repair to the Government House to see His Excellency. This intimation of His Excellency was conveyed to me late on Wednesday night, during the sitting of the House, and it was impossible for me at once to go to the Government House; but I made an appointment to meet His Excellency at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning. At the time appointed I had an interview with His Excellency and he communicated to me his desire that I should undertake the task of forming a government immediately. I replied to His Excellency that I should have no objection to undertake the task, but at the same time I would like to ascertain from His Excellency if he had any objection that in that task I should be assisted by my former colleague, the late Attorney General for Upper Canada. His Excellency told me that I was free to act as I thought proper, and that he would be satisfied with any arrangement that I made. I intimated to His Excellency that I knew that Mr. Macdonald was desirous on account of the state of his health, to retire from public life. I then went to Mr. Macdonald and communicated to him the object of my visit; and it was with great reluctance that he at last yielded to my request to aid me in the formation of a Government. I am happy to announce to this House that my hon. friend and myself have been successful in the task we undertook; and I have to announce the formation of a Government, and that yesterday His Excellency was pleased to make the following appointments:—

UPPER CANADA.

Hon. J. A. Macdonald - Atty. General West.
Hon. John Ross - - President of Council.
Hon. P. Vankoughnet - Com. Crown Lands.
Hon. G. Sherwood - Receiver General.
Hon. Sidney Smith - Postmaster General.

LOWER CANADA.

Hon. Mr. Cartier - - Attorney General.
Hon. Mr. Galt - - - Inspector General.
Hon. Mr. Rose - - - Solicitor General.
Hon. Mr. Belleau - - Speaker Leg. Coun.
Hon. Mr. Sicotte - - Com. Public Works.
Hon. C. Alleyn - - - Provincial Secretary.

It is necessary that I should now explain, on behalf of the Government, the policy of the present Government. (Cheers.) Hon. members must bear in view that we do not ask for any delay to enable us to explain our policy. We do not wish for delay, that our policy may be matured during the recess, and afterwards to be announced at the next session and now when that announcement is made I am sure that our friends to this House and in the country will give us their hearty support. I see that the member for North Oxford is smiling. I know he made a long speech the other day in defence of the last Government in order to extricate it from the false position in which it was. After being four or five days engaged in organizing, they could not come down to this House and state any policy whatever. The policy of the Government will be the same that was announced in the speech from the Throne.

Mr. Wallbridge would bring forward a motion in order that hon. gentlemen might have an opportunity of expression of opinion, to the effect, "That it be resolved that the Hon. Sydney Smith has, since he has been elected to this House, accepted two offices of trust and emolument under the Crown, viz,—those of the president of the Council and of the Postmaster General, and thereby vacated his seat in the House as representative of the North Riding of Northumberland." The hon. gentleman proceeded to say that the Government should be the reflex of the feelings of the country, and one of the reasons given for a dissolution was that the present House did not represent such, but only the frauds and perjuries. The public were indignant at the conduct of the Administration, particularly when the frauds perpetrated at the elections of Quebec were considered. They were then afraid to meet their constituents. The power exercised lately by the Governor General would be hereafter looked upon with surprise, when his advisers were asked, as it were, to give up their constitutional right. The Government by holding their seats without an appeal to the people, held them in violation of the spirit and soul of the law. Take all the evils which the statute was intended to remedy, and it would be acknowledged that the Administration were disregarding the law; and he would dare any one to show the contrary. One of the best writers on constitutional law said, "If the act is remedial one a clear idea is to be had of the law as it existed before the mischief which it was intended to prevent." A judge, too, had the right of construing the law in direct contravention to the language of the law. He could not refrain from speaking of the policy of the Government, which was none at all. Where was their policy on the School and the Representation questions?

Hon. J. A. Macdonald—We voted on the School question.

Mr. Wallbridge—But now you have declared a new policy, and the new Government could not call themselves the same Administration of a few days ago. The Seat of Government policy should be published in the Grumbler or Poker, and ought not to find its way into the deliberations of the Assembly, and it would hereafter be mentioned to the credit of the opposition how properly they upheld the people's rights. The present Administration thus had come into power under most peculiar circumstances. The hon. gentleman then proceeded to read the various pictures on a member of the House [illegible]. It was proper that the Crown should have no power over the officers, except they were endorsed them. Otherwise the liberties and privileges of the people would be endangered.

Mr. McGee said that besides the legal view of the matter, it was necessary on constitutional grounds, on what he might call national ground, that these men (the Government) should go back, simultaneously with the members of the late Government, to their constituents. Mr. Brown had been called by the Executive to form a Government, as he was the most prominent man in the Opposition; but he failing, the member for Sherbrooke was sent for, because, he (Mr. McGee) supposed, he had no follower in the House. The Governor General was determined to try extremes; to try from Alpha to Omega. It was to give Mr. Galt a fictitious importance in the country that he was sent for, because His Excellency knew he could not form an Administration, for, able and far-seeing as he was, he had not a political follower in the House.

Mr. Dorland having addressed the House in favor of Mr. Wallbridge's motion.

The motion was negatived: Yeas 14; nays 32.

Mr. Piche moved an amendment, but subsequently withdrew it.

The House adjourned at half-past 10 o'clock.

Arrivl of the Prince Albert.

HALIFAX, Aug. 6.

The screw steamship Prince Albert, Captain Waters, from Galway at midnight, 27th, arrived off Halifax harbour yesterday p. m., and reached her dock at nine o'clock this morning. The advices by this arrival by mail are to the evening of the 26th ult., from Liverpool, and by telegraph from Liverpool and London to the 27th. There is no news of importance by the Prince Albert. Ex-President Pierce and lady had arrived at Cadiz, and sailed for Marseilles. A serious gale had occurred on the English coast, accompanied by considerable damage to the shipping. Mr. Barbour, late Acting British Consul at Naples, is appointed Consul at Richmond, Va., in place of Mr. G. P. R. James, who goes to Venice.

The sales of cotton in the Liverpool market, for the three days estimated for Tuesday, were about 20,000 bales; the market closing dull, and prices without particular change. The Liverpool breadstuffs market was generally quiet. The Liverpool provision market was steady. Consols for money 95¾ a 95⅞.

Full details of Indian and China news had been received, but there was nothing of additional importance.

THE ATLANTIC TELEGRAPH.

BEDFORD, PA., August 5.

"To Cyrus W. Field, Trinity Bay.—My Dear Sir,—I congratulate you with all my heart, on the success of the great telegraph which your name is so honorably connected. Under the blessing of Divine Providence, I trust it may prove instrumental in promoting perpetual peace and friendship between the kindred nations. I have not yet received the Queen's despatch.—Yours very respectfully, JAMES BUCHANAN.

☞ Strong memorials to the Queen of England, and to the House of Lords have been presented from Brighton and elsewhere, asking the peremptory prohibition of the confessional in the Church of England. It is said that both the Queen and the peers are favourable to the views of the memorialists.

NORTH WELLINGTON ELECTION.—The nomination in this county took place yesterday at Fergus. On the show of hands Mr. Charles Allan had a majority of 60 to 70 against his opponent, Mr. Carroll. A poll was demanded with the only result to the object of keeping Mr. Allan a few days longer out of the house. The conduct of the Rev. Nassau O. Gowan, who professes to be an opponent of the late corruptionist Government will be thoroughly appreciated from this act.—Globe.

The New Era.

Newmarket, Friday August 13, 1858.

General Summary.

☞ Mr. Brown is meeting with marked success in his canvass through Toronto; and judging from newspaper reports, he will be returned by a large majority.

☞ We understand a friendly game of Cricket is to be played between the Newmarket and Holland Landing Clubs, on Monday next.—Wickets to be pitched at 11 o'clock a. m., on the Landing ground.

☞ Mr. Southard has commenced taking Ambrotype pictures in his new premises, opposite Mr. Bogart's store. The specimens exhibited, are well executed. See Advertisement.

☞ The Leader announces that the House will be prorogued to-morrow (Saturday.) Corruption and fraud, therefore, have triumphed and the Governor General and his advisers achieved a temporary victory.

☞ The regular quarterly meeting on this Circuit, will be held in Newmarket, on Saturday and Sunday next, the 14th and 15th inst. Services on Saturday to commence at 1 o'clock p. m., and Sunday at 10 o'clock a. m.

☞ A meeting of the Reform Vigilance Committee is called, for Wednesday evening next. We hope to see every member in his place, as subjects of considerable importance to the Riding generally will be brought up for discussion. See Advertisement.

☞ The friends in connection with the Christian Church hold a field Meeting on Sunday, the 22th inst., at Queensville, East Gwillimbury. Services to commence at 10 o'clock a. m., and 2 p. m. Elder Burnham is expected to be one of the speakers on the occasion.

☞ It is with pleasure we announce the rapid recovery of the member for North York, Joseph Hartman, Esq. We learn from his medical attendant, Dr. Hunter, that he will soon be able to visit through the constituency.

☞ From the Globe of Wednesday, we learn that Mr. James Beaty, of the Orange and Green Printing Establishment in King Street, is to be the opponent of Dr. Connor, in South Oxford. A happy time he will have opposing him, we should say.

☞ From South Ontario we learn that Mr. Mowat will be returned by even a large majority than on a former occasion. Public meetings are being held and resolutions adopted, all through the Riding, approving of his conduct as their representative.

☞ This Village will probably be all alive on Tuesday next, with visitors to the Circus. We cannot say anything about the character of the establishment, for it appears they have only just arrived in the Province. Their advertisement will be found elsewhere, and people may read and judge for themselves.

☞ We have received a communication from a friend in King Township, in reference to certain would-be representatives of this Riding; in case Mr. Hartman declined the future representation of the constituency; but as such a speculation is premature altogether, we would dislike at present to give publicity to the names of any particular individual. Mr. Hartman is rapidly recovering, and in case of being able to attend to his duties, he will walk the course without an opponent, should we have a general election.

Political Partizanship.

The country is in an uproar,—the feelings of the people have been outraged, and they show by their actions that they will no longer be trifled with. A crisis has come. A corrupt and venal Ministry, unable longer to hold the reigns of power, are obliged to resort to dishonorable and unconstitutional means to retain their seats. A powerful and talented Opposition, representing the free and liberal principles of Upper Canada, are becoming the last friends of the people—the Government feared their plans would be broken up before completion—that they would be driven from office, and the wholesale and abominable system of robbery, corruption, sale of offices and influence, jobbing contracts, and dishonesty would be brought to light, ere they could destroy the evidence of their existence, and thereby get free from difficulty, have resorted to a paltry and dishonourable trick, unworthy of honest men, much more the responsible advisers of the Crown, by which ten of the most honourable members of Parliament have been excluded from their seats in the House. And there is now no room for doubt, that the Governor of this Province was either privy to these plans and coalesced with this unpopular element of the community, or was weak enough to be made the tool of an unscrupulous trickster. Under these circumstances, Sir Edmund Head should be reminded that Canada is not now the Canada of fifty years ago—nor even of '37. She has now a Constitution, and there is a great and increasing love of British freedom burning in the hearts of her sons. The people feel and understand their rights, and will never surrender them without a struggle; and there is a point beyond which patience ceases to become a virtue, this fact those in authority should remember.

The policy of the Hincks Government in the selection of men to hold Vice-Regal sway here, has been most unfortunate. Sir Francis Bond Head, by his policy, and aiding the old Family Compact,—the originators of the present conservative or would be aristocratic party—drove the country into open rebellion, and went home in disgrace. Sir Charles Metcalf, fresh from the East Indies, where he ruled millions of serfs with an iron rod, thought to pursue a like policy here, and consequently was as unpopular with the masses, as he deserved to be; and the present Governor is fast following in the footsteps of his distinguished relative and namesake. True, there are bright exceptions to this general rule. A Sydenham, or an Elgin will, wherever they may go, be respected and loved for their talents and their liberality. They were statesmen of the highest order; but when in the place of Lord Elgin—a man popular in his household, honourable and popular in the country, alike among all parties, respected and looked up to by all classes of the community,—we say, when instead of such a man, we have put over us a cold and immovable ruler—without political talent or ability—without antecedents, and worse than all, without sympathy for any party in the country, but his present unscrupulous advisers,—the great heart of the people cannot otherwise but feel their dearest rights violated. As long as no direct act called for an expression of public opinion, the country has been silent; but when the constitution has been violated, and the rights of Canadians trampled forcibly upon, they will no longer submit. Hence we hear of public meetings being held—petitions being circulated, and discontent manifesting itself. The Home Government should know how to be just towards us, as well as generous to the men they send to be our rulers, and not force upon us partizans as the representatives of royalty. The great mass of the people are truly loyal to their sovereign; but they know full well that the Queen of British would never become the dupe of political tricksters. Hence, while they complain of recent shuffling by which the Brown-Dorion Administration were hurled from power, and in which Sir Edmund Head appears to be in some way mixed up, they rejoice to know that their Sovereign would scorn such transactions. We may return to this subject.

Newmarket Council.

The above Council held a session on Monday evening last. All the Councillors present.—The Reeve in the chair.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Mr. Wallis said he desired to bring in a By-Law to provide for licensing tents on show grounds, and other public places within the village; and he thought it might be passed through its various stages to-night.

Mr. Bache thought they should not be in such a hurry—time should be given to properly consider such a By-law.

Mr. Roe—and allow them to sell grog!—(Laughter.)

Mr. Wallis said, his object was to be prepared for the show day. If the By-Law was passed this evening, it could be printed immediately. Besides he thought it would be a just protection to tavern-keepers.

Mr. Davison said he would move the suspension of the rules of order, so as to allow the introduction of the By-law; seconded by Mr. Wallis, and carried.

Mr. Wallis then read his By-law a first time. He then moved the Council into Committee of the Whole on the same.

Mr. Roe in the chair.

Mr. Davison considered there ought to be a chance to allow tavern-keepers to sell upon the public grounds on such occasions, without paying the extra two dollars. They should be exempt.

Mr. Sutherland could not see why tavern-keepers should be exempted. At the present time they hold a license for their respective houses only, and he was opposed to the principle of giving them an undue advantage over others. This By-law was for their protection, as it would no doubt prevent some from selling on that occasion.

Mr. Bache agreed with the remarks of the Reeve. This law was for the tavern-keeper's protection, and they derive a benefit thereby.

Mr. Wallis said he had drawn out the By-law hastily, and some corrections might be necessary, but he entirely agreed with the remarks of the last two speakers. He could not see why any difference should be made.

Mr. Davison thought he could point out a difference. Tavern-keepers have hard work to pay their present license fees,—they pay largely into the Treasury, and should be protected. Hotel keepers, he was informed, had no licence fees to pay to sell at the Provincial Exhibition, the last time it was held in Toronto; and he thought they should not do so here. If the object of this By-law was protection, why not increase the amount of licence fee from $2. to $5. He would therefore move an amendment to that effect. But failing to procure a seconder, the motion was not put.

The By-law then passed its second reading, and on motion of Mr. Bache, seconded by Mr. Wallis, the Committee rose, and reported the By-law to the Council.

On motion of Mr. Wallis, the By-law was read a third time and adopted.

Mr. Wallis then moved for leave to introduce a By-law to "protect the sidewalks, and prevent furious driving over bridges," &c.—Granted.

The By-law was then introduced and read a first time.

On motion of Mr. Bache, the Council resolved itself into Committee of the Whole, on said By-law.—Mr. Davison in the chair.

After making one or two amendments, the Committee rose and reported the Bill as amended.

It was then read a third time and adopted.

Mr. Wallis gave notice that at next meeting of Council, he would bring in a By-law to provide for the "summary collection of taxes."

Mr. Bache moved that the two By-laws adopted this evening, be printed in hand-bill form, and that the Clerk be instructed to procure 100 copies. Also that they be printed in the pamphlet of By-laws now being completed.

Seconded by Mr. Wallis, and carried.

A communication was then read from the Board of School Trustees, for the Village, requesting them to collect, for school purposes, the sum of $428.

After some little desultory conversation, and the ordering of several bills to be paid, the Council adjourned.

The Cartier-Macdonald Ministry.

LOWER CANADA.

CARTIER—Attorney General and Premier.
GALT—Inspector General.
ALLEYN—Provincial Secretary.
BELLEAU—Speaker Legislative Council.
SICOTTE—Com. Public Works.
ROSE—Solicitor General East.

UPPER CANADA.

MACDONALD—Attorney General.
ROSS—President of the Council.
VANKOUGHNET—Com. Crown Lands.
SMITH—Post Master General.
SHERWOOD—Receiver General.
Solicitor Generalship VACANT.

By the above, it will be seen that Canada is again governed by the same men who were charged with being guilty of perpetrating acts the most gross and fraudulent, of any set of men that ever ruled the country. True, the imbecile Cayley is removed from the Inspector Generalship; but we have a man in his place capable of more cunning and shrewdness, with greater powers of deception; and instead of the bragging, boasting, lopping Loranger, we have a remnant of the old compact crew, in the person of Mr. Sherwood.

Now, what has been gained by the new shuffle of the political cards? John A. Macdonald used to be Trump, and Cartier Jack; but now we have Cartier Trump, and John A. Macdonald acting in the capacity of Jack, or second fiddler. One object, certainly, has been gained—Mr. Brown and other prominent members of the Opposition have been thrust aside till the corruptionists could pass their estimates and vote the supplies, and that appears to have been the grand object contemplated by the recent changes—the Governor General acting no conspicuous part.

We learn that the House is to be prorogued to-morrow,—hence the corruptionists have insured their salaries until next February, and the country must labor under the same difficulties we have had to encounter during the past year—the inefficiency of Ministers to control the affairs of state. Bankruptcy and repudiation looms up in the distance, and must necessarily be the result unless the Augean stables are purified and cleansed. May some effectual remedy be provided, and thereby insure the prosperity and happiness of the people.

Municipal By-Laws.

Our Village Council passed two By-Laws on Monday evening last to which we take exceptions. By referring to our report of the proceedings in that occasion, which we publish elsewhere to-day, it will be seen the first was a special License By-Law; and the second, to protect the sidewalks and prevent furious driving over bridges, &c.

The License By-Law we object to, on the ground that the man desirous of selling temperance beverages, such as Lemonade, Ginger-Beer, &c., must pay the same price for a license, as the vender of spirituous liquors. If the principle laid down by the Council is a tenable one, why not make temperance hotels pay the same license fee as those where intoxicating liquors are sold, in granting yearly licenses? According to this By-Law no person would be allowed to sell hot coffee without doling out his $2 for a license; while the man who will make $4 to his $1, by selling spiritous liquors, only pays the same price.

The second By-Law adopted, compelling the construction of crossings to protect the sidewalk, in our humble judgment, is illegal.—The council have no right build an impediment to prevent the free access to private property; and to the laying down of sidewalks, these crossings ought to be constructed at the time. Besides the By-Law, independent of the above consideration, has another fault,—inasmuch as these crossings must be laid down to meet the approval of the Town Inspector. This year we may have a man of judgment and prudence, and principle enough to not stoop to private vindictiveness; but they may not be the case next year, and hence the liability of individuals to suffer in order to meet the whims of a partial inspector. We hope the By-Law will be reconsidered.

Taxation.

By referring to our report of the Village Council proceedings, on Monday evening last, it will be seen that the Board of School Trustees have made a demand for $428.—Besides this sum, it appears the average attendance of scholars number 111, realizing to the Board not less than $333; to this amount add $148 Government Grant, and we find the total revenue required to be $909.

Now let us look for a moment at the expenditures:—The principal Teacher is to be paid $520; the Assistant Teacher, $180, (including her services as Librarian.) Total salaries $700. If we subtract $700 from $909, a balance will be found of $209. Now, what do the Board propose doing with the overplus? Surely they do not pretend to tell the people that the planting of a few trees, and laying down a few rods of sidewalk, together with the charge for insuring the Building will cost $209? From all the information we can gather, too there was a balance of something like $30, due from the old Board, after all expenses had been paid, and which accounts were handed over for collection. Should the above figures prove correct, as to revenue and expenditure, there must be a hole in the ballot somewhere,—and the people, the tax payers,—have a right to an explanation; perhaps not a legal right, but to all intents and purposes a moral right.

We wish it to be distinctly understood that so far as we are concerned, we believe in raising a sufficient revenue to keep the school in efficient working order, but we do not coincide with those favorable to leaving a "nest-egg," as it is termed, for another year. The principle is wrong, and should be opposed by every friend of self-government. A few $100 dollars not to be lost in the Treasury more than is required, and the rate-bills will be neglected: the result will prove the fact, that each succeeding Board will have a large amount of uncollected school rates handed over for collection. It has proved so in other localities, and will do so here.

—Again, the times are hard, and call forth the most rigid and scrupulous economy; and if the trustees can do with $100 less than what is called for, we believe they are morally bound to do so. We hope what has been said will lead the Board to reconsider this matter, and have to the closest figure. Perhaps some member of the Board will give us light on this subject, if we are wrong in our calculations: our columns are open.

Novel Marriage.

An interesting marriage ceremony took place in the Township of Whitchurch, on Monday last, the 9th inst. The loving couple, accompanied by their friends, were in waiting for a length of time, at Sharon's Inn, on the Uxbridge road, to intercept a certain clergyman that passed through that neighborhood on that day, in making his weekly rounds. However, to their disappointment, the clergyman failed to pass; and after waiting some length of time beyond the usual hour of seeing him returning, the wedding party concluded to leave for home and employ some other Rev. gentleman to make the "twain one flesh." As luck would have it—and old bachelors say, getting a wife is all luck—on their way back, in the thick woods along the 8th line, they met two Rev. Gentlemen coming to Newmarket. The bridegroom determined to take advantage of circumstances, made known his dilemma, and we have great pleasure in recording the fact, that Elder Tatton, in nature's temple, united the two loving hearts in holy wedlock, and Mr. Elijah Patterson is now a married man.

ACKNOWLEDGMENT.

To the Editor of the New Era.

MR. EDITOR.—Will you allow me, through you to convey to those friends who took a part in the excursion to Collingwood, in behalf of the Wesleyan Methodist Church of that place, a resolution passed by the Trustees of said Church at a late meeting they held. The resolution was sent to me by T. H. Lawrence, Esq., Secretary to the board, and is as follows:—

"I am instructed to convey to you our best thanks for the ready and kindly manner in which you interested yourself in behalf of the excursion, and through you in any manner you may think best, to our noble friends of Newmarket and Aurora Circuit for their presence and help on the occasion."

I may just add that Mr. Lawrence informs me that the avails of the excursion, after paying all expences, will be about $220; and that the amount from the was at the head of the list.—I therefore take this opportunity, also, of tendering my thanks to all our kind friends who assisted on that occasion.

W. McFADDEN.

Aurora, August 10th, 1858.

Parliamentary.

House of Assembly.

MONDAY, August 9.

The Speaker took the chair at 10 o'clock.

Attorney General Macdonald moved that during the remainder of the session the House meet every day (except Sunday) at ten o'clock in the forenoon.

Mr. Mackenzie objected to the motion—notice not having been given of it.

Attorney General Macdonald said he had given such notice to the Clerk on Saturday.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Mackenzie rose and said that the rules of Parliament prevented him from saying that matters did not go on in the House as they ought; but having been a member of the House since the commencement of the session, and having closely watched the proceedings therein, he had at length come to the conclusion that he could not conscientiously fulfil his duty to the electors of Haldimand for the remainder of the four years for which he had been elected. He protested against all that was done in the House as most unjust to the people; and he would like to know if he could not now give notice that at the end of the session he should cease to be a member for the County of Haldimand.

The Speaker said that the hon. gentleman had only to give notice to the House of his intention to resign, and the clerk would take down the fact.

Mr. Mackenzie enquired if he now gave notice whether that would not keep him out of the House during the remainder of the session. He would willingly resign at once, could another member take his seat as soon as he vacated it, but he felt he would not be doing justice to his constituents were he to leave the House before they could elect another representative. He had not consulted any one on the subject, but he had fully considered the subject, and felt that he could not continue with honor a member of the House so long as the present speaker occupied the chair, and hon. gentlemen opposite occupied the Treasury Benches. He would therefore give notice that after the end of this session he would cease to be a member of the House. Those who wished to represent the County of Haldimand, had better take the proper steps to fill his place.

The following bills were also read a third time and passed:—

Mr. Dawson's bill to incorporate the North West Transportation and Land Company.

Mr. Dunkin's bill to incorporate the village of Arthabaska.

Mr. Terrill's bill to regulate the Inspection of Hops.

Mr. Morrison's bill to change the limits of the Town of Collingwood.

Mr. Turcotte's bill to erect the Village of Radnor Forge into a Village Municipality, under the name of Forgeville.

Mr. Turcotte's bill to amend the Act incorporating the City of Three Rivers.

Major Campbell's bill to incorporate the Academy of St. Cesaire.

Mr. Harwood's bill to [illegible] an error in the Act 18 Vic. cap. 112, relating to building of Churches in Lower Canada.

Mr. A. Morrison moved the second reading of the bill to amend the act relating to the Northern Railway, and to grant further facilities to the said Company.

The House then divided on the second reading, which was carried by 34 to 17.

It being then six o'clock the Speaker left the chair.

EVENING SESSION.

The Speaker took the chair at half past seven.

The bill from the Legislative Council to amend the Prison Inspection Act, was read a first time.

Mr. Robitaille's bill to incorporate the Canada Landed Credit Company was again considered in committee and reported as amended.

The House went into committee on the bill to amend the Lower Canada Municipal and Road Act.

In answer to Mr. Wallbridge,

The Speaker stated that as soon as the warrants for the vacant seats had been made out drawn and sign by him, they had been forwarded to the Clerk of the Crown in Chancery, with instructions to issue the necessary writs.

Mr. White hoped the writs would be issued with all possible haste.

Attorney General Cartier said that the late Provincial Secretary (Mr. Mowat) not having been at his office, to enregister the commissions, a delay had occurred. But now the difficulty had been overcome.

Mr. MacDougall—But it had been overcome for some days.

Attorney General Cartier—Oh! no—only since Saturday.

Mr. Macdougall moved the second reading of Mr. Brown's Bill to relieve Government employes from Sunday Labor.

The House divided on motion, which was lost:—Yeas, 32; Nays, 41.

The House adjourned at 12 o'clock.

Arrival of the Arago.

St Johns, N. F., August 7.

The U. S. steamship Arago, Capt. Lines, from Havre and Southampton, 28th ult., passed Cape Race at 5 o'clock on Thursday, P. M.

The screw steamship Anglo-Saxon, from Quebec 17th July, arrived at Liverpool on the 27th.

The steam ship Ukraine Bell had arrived from Constantinople with $1,500,000 in treasure.

There had been some interesting debates in Parliament.

Baron Rothschild was sworn in as a member of the House of Commons, and took his seat at the Monday morning sitting, when he voted for the first time.

The Duke of Malakoff had received an invitation from Lord Lyons to go on the Royal Albert, the flag ship of the British Squadron to Cherbourg.

There had been an extraordinary discovery of old coin in France.

Heavy gales had been experienced at Liverpool. 13 vessels went ashore, but came off at flood tide.

LIVERPOOL MARKETS.

LIVERPOOL, 28th July.

The advices from Manchester are favourable. All qualities of goods, yarn, &c., had considerably advanced.

Liverpool Breadstuff Markets has been generally quiet. The weather had been favourable for the crops.

Richardson, Spence & Co., report flour quiet. Western Canal 21s a 21s 6d. Philadelphia and Baltimore 22s. Wheat steady. Red Western, 6s 4 a 6s 6d. White Southern, 6s 9d a 7s 3d. Corn dull; Yellow, 33s. White, 31s 6d a 33s 6d.

Liverpool Provision market was generally quiet, Beef is dull. Pork steady. Bacon quiet. Lard is firm, and holders demand an advance. Cheese is quoted 1s 6d. Sugar firm at an advance of 6d. Coffee is quiet and unchanged. Ashes are quiet at 35s for both Pots and Pearls. Consols had declined, and closed at 95 3/8.

Arrival of the Nova Scotian.

QUEBEC, August 8th, 1858.

The Nova Scotian sailed at 11 a. m. on the 28th; the Great Britain left about the same time for New York.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Lords on the 27th, the subject of right of search was debated. Lord Lyndhurst asked production of correspondence with American Government, and expressed a strong opinion that except as a belligerent right, no country was entitled to exercise a right of visitation. Lord Malmesbury observed that the difficulty had arisen in consequence of the American Government permanently refusing to allow vessels carrying the American flag to be searched whether the flag was fraudulently carried or not.

In the House of Commons Baron Rothschild presented himself at the Bar to be sworn as a member, the usual oath was propounded whereupon he refused to take it, and on motion of Lord John Russell a resolution was adopted allowing the Baron to take the oath most binding on his conscience, which he did and took a seat in the House amidst great cheering.

The Territory of New Caledonia is now called British Columbia, and under that title, a bill making provision for Government has been read the second time in the House of Lords on the 27th. Proceedings in the House of Lords devoid of interest.

In the Commons the Lords Amendments Bill was considered, and several clauses agreed to. In one incidental division Government was left in a minority of 13.

Sir John Butler was raised to the peerage under the title of Lord Charleston.

Mr Barbet, lately acting British Consul at Naples, where he took a prominent part in the Cagliari affair, has been appointed Consul at Richmond, Va., vice James, who takes Consulate at Venice.

It is officially announced that Victoria and Prince Albert will pay a private visit to their daughter Princess Frederick William at Potsdam in August.

At a public meeting of the Jews in London, a Committee was appointed to consider the best method of celebrating the admission of Jews into Parliament.

FRANCE.

Count Cavour, the Sardinian Minister, has been on a visit to Emperor Napoleon at Plombieres. A conference between them on the affairs of Italy is said to have taken place.

Symptoms of revival of trade in France continue to be manifested. Large orders from the United States reached Lyons. Wheat crop although not so abundant as last year, ranked the best for average crops. The speech for the inauguration of Cherbourg, said to have been elaborated by the Emperor, will embody the whole policy of France and announce the pacific result arrived at by Paris Conference.

ITALY.

Trial at Salerno of Baron Neotra and others, charged with a revolutionary attempt last year, has resulted in seven prisoners being condemned to death, several others to 15 years in irons, some to less severe penalties, and many set at liberty. Orders were issued to suspend confidence of death. It was thought that sentence would also be carried into effect.

SWITZERLAND.

A Berne telegram says the Committee of Council of States has unanimously recommended the rejection of the application of the Genevese Government against the expulsion or seeking into the interior, of political refugees. The election for President resulted in victory to the Moderate Liberal party. Fras. Hercod, of Basle, was chosen President.

Advices from Alexandria mention Christians being murdered in that city, but Cyprus was perfectly tranquil; garrison of 5,000 men and energetic measures adopted prevented all apprehension of danger. Disturbances among the mountain tribes in Syria continued.

China news shows that the forts at the mouth of the Peiho were carried in two hours and occupied by 15,000 of the Allies, who demolished the works. A fleet of junks in the river were burnt. The Allies lost 88 men disabled in an unsuccessful attack of braves around Canton. Some 60 men were disabled by sun-stroke, while 18 were killed, wounded, or prisoners.

Lord Elgin's intention was said to be to push on and negotiate at Pekin. Mr. Reid, U. S. Commissioner to China, had been very useful as a go-between.

INDIA.

Calcutta mails to June 18, had reached England, but contain nothing important. It was reported that Sir Colin Campbell had been suffering from illness. The condition of affairs in Oude was considered most disastrous; so hot a season has not been known for years, the troops being housed all over the north west.

Mr. D'Arcy McGee's Speech.

The following is a portion of the speech delivered by Mr. McGee on the night the Cartier-McDonald Ministry took their seats:—

Then came a point in this transaction to which he called the serious attention of the House, and, through the House, the country. It was to the example set by the new ministers of the Crown in going to His Excellency last night and swearing to discharge the duties of one set of officers, and in waiting upon him again this morning and swearing to discharge the duties of another set of officers. [Hear, hear.] The force of all law depended upon the sanctity of an oath, and those gentlemen who had learnt what were the moral duties which bound society together, knew as well as he did that it was as much an act of false swearing to take an unnecessary oath as to swear to an express falsehood. They had no intention at the time they took the first batch of oaths to discharge the duties that they swore to fulfil, and people of every Christian denomination throughout the country would be shocked and alarmed at the gross and deliberate perjury which had been committed by the highest officers of the State, in the presence of the Queen's representative. [Loud cries of "Hear, hear."] Go out into the street and ask a man of ordinary intelligence if he were to sworn solemnly to do something which he had no intention of doing, what he would call it, and he would give the short plain answer that it was perjury—deliberate perjury. [Hear, hear.] And if among private individuals this was a grave offence, how much more was it when a whole body of the people's representatives were guilty of such conduct? (Hear, hear.) He was still more astonished that the chief magistrate of this country—the Representative of his Sovereign—should have sanctioned the swearing in of men, when he knew well that the oaths they were taking were a blow, a farce, a mockery. [Cheers.] These gentlemen—these doubly-sworn gentlemen who swore to discharge the duties of offices upon which they knew they would never enter—what did they represent? They represented precisely the same principles which were represented at the bar of the House, during the inquiry into the election frauds in the early part of the session, by that beautiful specimen of frontier life—Earl Bendell, of Bassin's Falls; and the most fitting name for their Ministry would be "The Brusher's Fall-Administration." [Cheers and laughter.] Bendell swear two different affidavits to suit different circumstances. How could the House trust to the explanations of men whose sworn obligations did not bind? It was impossible they could confide in those whose example would lead to the sapping of the foundation of all law and morality. [Hear, hear.] Before sitting down he hoped the House would permit him to refer to a subject personal to himself. There were one or two points in a former debate, which had gone to the country, that he desired to answer, and especially as they appeared under the sanction of the high name of the Attorney General West. The sweeping attack of that hon gentleman upon his [Mr. McGee's] manner and matter did not concern him in the least. He would leave the House and the country to judge whether he was open to the charge of plagiarism or not. But were he a plagiarist, he would not have stolen the ideas of Sheridan, because it so happened that of all the great masters of legislative oratory, Sheridan was the man who had left us but a single speech. The hon gentleman did not, therefore, display his usual familiarity with British precedents when he supposed him (Mr. McGee) to have been sitting at the feet of Sheridan. I admit, said Mr. McGee, that I am guilty of the other charge preferred against me—that I have long made myself familiar with the great orators of my native country—more especially of the greatest of them all—he whose eloquence culminated in Westminster Hall, foretelling by seventy years the late disasters which have befallen British women in Hindoostan. (Hear, hear.) I have been much in that company, for I have always preferred the sheerly of good books to that of mid-flying men. They were a generous race, and their generosity was their inspiration. They dignified the science of politics by infusing into it the spirit of chivalry. Many of them spent all their years in opposition—few of them sought for office—but they all preserved with ardour the high secrets of this science of Government, this strategery of our lower sphere, of this art of keeping society together—of which we here, in this house, pretend to be professors. They rescued the English language from the fetters of Johnsonian phrase. They were lovers of liberty everywhere—of liberty defined and regulated by law—and they warred against all injustice in both Parliaments—in England and in Ireland, while Ireland yet had a Parliament. [Hear, hear.] Sir, I am proud to be of the country of these men, and I do not think my nationality makes me overrate the value of such men to the Anglican race and the epoch we live in. My true country, I feel to be one made up of those of whom I speak—to be where all duties, all [illegible]

QUEBEC, August 8th, 1858.

The Nova Scotian sailed at 11 a. m. on the 28th; the Great Britain left about the same time for New York.

GREAT BRITAIN.

In the House of Lords on the 27th, the subject of right of search was debated. Lord Lyndhurst asked production of correspondence with American Government, and expressed a strong opinion that except as a belligerent right, no country was entitled to exercise a right of visitation. Lord Malmesbury observed that the difficulty had arisen in consequence of the American Government pertinaciously refusing to allow vessels carrying the American flag to be searched whether the flag was fraudulently carried or not.

In the House of Commons Baron Rothschild presented himself at the Bar to be sworn as a member, the usual oath was propounded whereupon he refused to take it, and on motion of Lord John Russell a resolution was adopted allowing the Baron to take the oath most binding on his conscience, which he did and took a seat in the House amidst great cheering.

The Territory of New Caledonia is now called British Columbia, and under that title, a bill making provision for Government has been read the second time in the House of Lords on the 27th. Proceedings in the House of Lords devoid of interest.

school, which,—let the Attorney General mark me!—had a noble scorn of falsehood. A school of men who went for their inspiration to the highest ancient sources; who did not recreate themselves with the libertine of lust—who did not fatten on nasty novelettes and indecent works of art. They were men incapable of profaning the sacred name of friendship; they were men incapable of caballing against their own colleagues in respect while living with them, by external assent, or either living nor dead, does one stain of such dishonorable double-dealing rest on their escutcheons. [Cheers.] Sir, there was another charge made with a view of creating prejudice against me in my adopted country, by the same assailant. He said I had been a rebel in my own country, and that I came here to propagate rebellion. Sir, I will say in the outset—it is not true! I am as loyal to the institutions under which I live in Canada as any Tory of the old or new schools. My native disposition is towards reverence for things old, and veneration for the landmarks of the past. [Hear, hear.] But when I saw in Ireland the people perish of famine at the rate of 5,000 souls per day; when I saw children and women as well as able bod

THE BLOOD is formed with thousands of pores in every inch of surface whose office it is to carry off the impurities of the blood—the acknowledged cause of all diseases of mankind—when the skin is dry and parched—when it is covered with eruptions—when it is cold and clammy—when there is inward fever or inflamation—it is impossible for the skin under these circumstances to perform its proper functions and to carry off the impurities from the body as designed by our Creator.

Morse's Indian Root Pills remove these obstructions, and produce free and healthy blood, remove the eruptions from the skin, and cause it to brighten with the flush of youth and beauty. Beauty so much admired and loved. Beauty without paints and cosmetics—but beauty produced by health and happiness.

Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills are sold by all Dealers in Medicines.

Consumption Cured. ☞ AN OLD INDIAN DOCTOR while a Missionary among the Indians of the Rocky Mountains, discovered a RARE PLANT, that proves to be a certain cure for Consumption, Bronchitis, Asthma, Liver Complaint, Venereal Affections, Coughs, Colds, &c. Having now made his fortune and retired from business, he will send the prescription and directions for preparing the medicines free of charge to all who desire it, and will send their address on receiving two stamps (6 cents), to pay the return letter, with a description of their symptoms. The Old Doctor has cured more than 3000 cases of Consumption alone, and hopes all afflicted people will avail themselves of this opportunity, as the Doctor wishes to do all the good he can before he dies.

SPLENDID FARM AND HOMESTEAD FOR SALE!

THE undersigned proposes to sell their farm comprised of the whole of lots No. 107 and 108, in the first concession of East Gwillimbury, west side of Yonge Street.

Both farms lay along the said other are of nearly equal area, and contain together,

ABOUT 200 ACRES,

(Subject to Survey) about eighty clearing of about 150 acres or upwards, 50 Acres on each, the remainder being covered with valuable timbers, including Hardwood, Pine, Cedar, &c.

There are on the premises FOUR LARGE FRAME BARNS nearly new with convenient Sheds, Piggeries, Pumps, Cisterns, &c.; and also TWO DWELLING HOUSES,

One of which has been just erected at a large outlay, and being well finished, and commanding from the view of the adjacent country, including the village of Holland Landing and the Northern Railroad, (which runs along the easterly boundary,) makes it most desirable residence for a genteel family.

There is on the premises a fine

ORCHARD,

With a choice assortment of fruit trees of most all kinds.

The land is well watered, of excellent quality, and with the great Yonge Street road running on the front, and the Holland Landing Station of the Northern Railway only a few rods distant, makes the situation especially convenient for Markets and for all other advantages.

The greater portion of the large and old established Village of Holland Landing stands on the remainder of those lots and for portions of the lands now offered large prices has been refused, which, with other advantages, render these farms the most desirable hitherto offered for sale in this part of the country.

The farm will be sold either together or seperately. Terms—one third down, balance in four annual instalments, with interest.

☞ Apply to the undersigned on the premises, or to Messrs. RYAN and HALLEN, Engineers and Surveyors, Newmarket.

Signed,

JOHN H. WEST.
ISHAM WEST.

DR. MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS.

CAUTION.

All Merchants and Traders will be on their guard and not be imposed upon by a Counterfeit of Morse's Indian Root Pills, stamped A. B. Moore. Ask anyone Indian Root Pills have the name and signature of A. J. White & Co. on each box.

DR. MORSE, the inventor of MORSE'S INDIAN ROOT PILLS has spent the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that Indian Root Pills were first discovered by Dr. Morse, who was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depends upon this vital fluid.

A. J. WHITE & CO.,
Sole Proprietors, New York.

DR. MORSE, the inventor of MORSE'S ROOT PILLS, has spent the greater part of his life in travelling, having visited Europe, Asia, and Africa, as well as North America—has spent three years among the Indians of our Western country—it was in this way that Indian Root Pills were first discovered. Dr. Morse was the first man to establish the fact that all diseases arise from IMPURITY OF THE BLOOD—that our strength, health and life depends upon this vital fluid.

When the various passages become clogged, and do not act in perfect harmony with the different functions of the body, the blood loses its action, becomes think, corrupted and diseased; thus causing all pains, sickness and distress of every name; our strength is exhausted, our health we are deprived of, and if nature is not assisted in throwing off the stagnant humors, the blood will become choked and cease to act, and thus our light of life will forever be blown out. How important then that we should keep the various passages of the body free and open. And how pleasant to us that we have it in our power to put a medicine in your reach, namely, "Morse's Indian Root Pills," manufactured from plants and roots which grow around the mountainous cliffs of Nature's garden, for the health and recovery of diseased man. One of the roots from which these Pills are made is a Sudorific, which opens the pores of the skin, and assists Nature in throwing out the finer parts of the corruption within. The second is an Expectorant, and opens and unclogs the passage to the lungs, and thus, in a soothing manner, performs its duty by throwing off phlegm, and other humors from the lungs by copious spitting. The third is a Diuretic, which gives ease and double strength to the kidneys; thus encouraged, they draw large amounts of impurity from the blood, which is then thrown out bodily by the urinary or water passage, and which could not have been discharged in any other way. The fourth is a Cathartic, and accompanies the other properties of the Pills while engaged in purifying the blood; the coarser particles of impurity which cannot pass by the other outlets, are thus taken up and conveyed off in greater quantities by the bowels.

From the above, it is known that Dr. Morse's Indian Root Pills not only enter the stomach, but become united with the blood, for they find way to every part, and completely rout out and cleanse the system from all impurity, and the life of the body, which is the blood, becomes perfectly healthy; consequently all sickness and pain is driven from the system, for they cannot remain when the body becomes so pure and clear.

The reason why people are so distressed when sick, and why so many die, is because they do not get a medicine which will prize to the afflicted parts, and which will open the natural passages for the disease to be cast out; hence, a large quantity of food and other matter is lodged, and the stomach and intestines are literally overflowing with the corrupted mass; thus undergoing a disagreeable fermentation; consequently, misting will be added, which throws the corrupted matter through every vein and artery until life is taken from the body by disease. Dr. Morse's PILLS have added to themselves victory upon victory, by restoring millions of the sick to blooming health and happiness. Yes, thousands who have been racked or tormented with sickness, pain and anguish, and whose feeble frames have been scorched by the burning torments of raging fever, and who have been brought, as it were, within a step of the silent grave, now stand ready to testify that they would have been numbered with the dead, had it not been for this great and wonderful medicine, Morse's Indian Root Pills. After one or two doses had been taken, they were astonished and absolutely surprised in witnessing their charming effects. Not only do they give immediate ease and strength, and take away all sickness, pain and anguish, but they at once go to work at the foundation of the disease, which is the blood. Therefore, it will be shown, especially by those who use these Pills, that they will so cleanse and purify, that disease—that deadly enemy—will take its flight, and the flush of youth and beauty will again return, and the prospect of a long and happy life will cherish and brighten your days.

CAUTION.—Beware of a counterfeit signed A. B. Moore. All genuine have the name of A. J. White & Co. on each box. Also the signature of A. J. White & Co. All others are spurious.

New Cabinet and Upholstery WAREHOUSE!

JAMES CRAIG respectfully announces to the inhabitants of this Amusements.

☞ "Is that clock right over there?" asked a visitor the other day. "Right over there," said the boy: "taint nowhere else."

☞ Have you "Blasted Hopes?" asked a lady of a green librarian, whose face much swollen by the toothache. "No,ma'am; but I have a blasted toothache."

☞ "Ma," said a little girl, do the men want to get married as much as the women?" "Why do you ask?" "Why, ma, the women who come here are always talking about getting married—the men don't do so."

☞ A man up town has sold his piano in consequence of the hard times. He is now teaching his daughters to perform on the washboard. The music is not so pleasant, but much more to the purpose.

☞ At a window in Drury Lane there appears the following notice—'Wanted two apprentices, who will be treated as one of the family.' May their appetites be small!

☞ 'Go way,' said Muggins, 'you can't stuff such nonsense into me. Six feet in his boots,! Bah! no man as ever lives stands more nor two feet in his boots, and no use talking about it. You might as well tell me that a man had six heads in his hat.

☞ An indigent boy applied for alms at the house of an avaricious rector, and received a dry mouldy crust. The rector inquired of the boy if he could say the Lord's Prayer, and was answered in the negative.

"Then," said the rector, "I will teach you that now.—Our father!"

"Our Father?" said the boy; "is he my father as well as yours?"

"Yes, certainly."

"Then," asked the boy, "how could you give your brother this mouldy crust of bread."

☞ A farmer, who had employed a green Emeraulder, ordered him to give the mule some corn in the ear. On his coming in the farmer asked:

"Well, Pat, did you give the corn?"

"To be sure I did."

"How did you give it?"

"An shure as yez told me, in the ear."

"But how much did you give?"

"Well, yez see the craytor wouldn't hold still, and kept twitching his ears about so, I couldn't get above a fist full in both ears."

Found his Crown.—A young man, clad in home-spun, was standing in Court street a few days since, devouring a doughnut, when he was accosted by one of a half-a-dozen genteel city idlers with—

'Jest come down?'

'Yeas, guess I have; great place this, aint it, jeou?' said the countryman.

''Tis so, bub, how's your marm?' asked the city buck, bent on sport with 'greeny.

'Well, she's putty well; she sent me deown here on business."

'She did! What kind of business are you on?'

'Why, she wanted me to come down to Boston, look reound and find half a-dozen of the biggest fules to edicate 'em, and I rather guess I've got my eye on them now,' said the stranger, taking in the whole crowd at a glance. The next moment he had the edge-stone to himself, where he quietly finished his doughnut. —Boston Paper.

No fewer than twelve French officers have been officially appointed, at the request of the Shah of Persia, to proceed to Teheran to instruct the Persian army.

☞ The Tribune says that on Wednesday last, a Canadian gentleman, Mr. George Mair, arrived in New York, and while standing near the railway depot, three men came to him and offered to sell him a watch, worth, as they said, $60, for $5. No sooner had he made the purchase, than a fourth man came up, and snatching the watch, said it was stolen property. But not content with this, he also seized Mr. Mair's pocket-book, and demanded his money. The police came up, and two of the men were committed to prison.

☞ The notorious Townsend left this town on Tuesday last for New York, accompanied by J. G. Currie, Esq., his counsel, and R. McDonald, counsel for the Crown, to ascertain the correctness of his alibi story; and then, if proved, he will endeavour to get damages from the government.—St. Catherines Journal.

Legislative Council.—The vote of Confidence in the Government passed in the Council yesterday is not of the slighest importance. There were disappointed aspirants there as well as in the Lower House, the corruptionists had made a strong muster before-hand, and many friends of the Opposition were absent. The addition of twelve elected members to the Upper House this fall will be a great improvement.—Globe.

Emancipation day.—The coloured population of this city celebrated on yesterday the Emancipation of their race from slavery, in the British dominions. There was a large procession in the day time, with a band and colors flying. In the evening they assembled in the St. Lawrence Hall, where a Soiree was held. A number of gentlemen delivered interesting speeches. The Young Canadians' Club assembled at Kurth's Saloon, Adelaide Street, where dancing and other amusements was kept up till on early hour in the morning—Leader

Explosion of the Coal Mine.—We regret to learn that the geologists have proved correct, and that the discovery of coal at Bowmanville has proved to be another of those hoaxes by which the Canadian public has been so often amused. It would appear from the information which we have received, that Joe Balsdon, the miner, who professed to have discovered remarkable indications of coal in surrounding wells, acted the part of deceiver through the whole matter, but that afterwards one of the Bates', proprietors of the farm, and also Ellsworth, who conducted the boring operations, joined in the humbug. They obtained the coal without attracting observation, and crammed it down the hole which they were boring. It is difficult to understand the exact motive of Bates in the matter, since we cannot learn that he made any attempt to sell the land or otherwise profit by the pretended discovery. The others were actuated we presume, by the desire of making a good job of the operation. It is possible that Bates was partly deceived by Balsdon and joined in the deception to attain a temporary object believing that the ultimate result would justify everything that he did. The people of Bowmanville have the consolation in their disappointment, of knowing that no place in the Province has advanced more steadily than their thriving town, and that they have in their own enterprize and advantageous location, sources of prosperity which may well content the most ambitious. —Globe.

Buffalo Medical Dispensary,

ESTABLISHED FOR THE CURE OF

Dyspepsia, General Debility, Fever and Ague, Old Ulcers, Scrofula, Erysipelas, Great Impurity of Blood, Pimples, Salt Rheum, Fistula, Piles, Liver Complaint, Kidneys, Debility, &c.; Canker, Sore Mouth, Asthma, Incipient, Consumption, Ulcerated Sore Throat, Syphilis, Seminal Weakness and the Infirmities of Youth and Maturity,

By Dr. Amos & Son,

Corner of Main and Quay Streets, Buffalo, N. Y.

JUST PUBLISHED, GRATIS,

THE MEDICAL ADVISER

On Nervous Debility, and the various forms of Premature Decay, both mental and physical, arising from youthful excesses, infection, the effects of climate, &c.; remarks on the use of the Microscope, and the questionable treatment advocated by certain writers; followed by practical observation on Marriage, plain directions for the prevention and removal of certain disqualifications, rules for self-treatment, &c.

A MOST SCIENTIFIC INVENTION.

An instrument for the cure of general Debility, or more properly known as Seminal Weakness, Nervous Debility, Low Spirits, Lassitude, Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Dimness of Vision, &c., &, incapacitating its victim for business, or matrimony, rendering him misanthropical and suicidal in his propensities, is instantly arrested, and permanently cured in from fifteen to twenty days by the use of this Instrument, when used conjointly with medicines.

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

Dr. Amos & Son, in order to satisfy the most skeptical as to the merits of this Instrument, pledge themselves, that in any instance where they may prove unsatisfactory after a fair trial, the money will be refunded by returning the Instrument in good order.

Persons wishing the above useful Instrument will observe that the price, with the accompanying directions, securely packed, and sent by express, is ten dollars.

NEW REMEDIES & QUICK CURES.

Dr. Amos & Son are the only Physicians in the State who are members of the Royal College of Surgeons, London, graduates of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States. May be consulted from eight o'clock in the morning until nine at night in every stage and symptom of the Venereal Disease. The treatment they adopt is the result of upwards of thirty years' extensive and successful practice in London. The most inveterate cases of Venereal Diseases eradicated in eight or nine days, and cases of a slight nature in two or three days, at a moderate expense. The cure effected without confinement or hindrance from business; also, nodes, and pains in the bones and limbs, effectually eradicated.

Persons in any part of the World, may be successfully treated by forwarding a correct detail of their case, with a remittance for Medicines, which will be returned with the utmost despatch, and secure from observation.

Letters for advice must contain a fee of $1.

☞ Patients wishing for Medicines will be charged according to the nature of their Complaint. Address

DR. AMOS & SON.

THE DAILY GLOBE

is 6s per annum. It is published at 4 o'clock every morning but Sunday; and is despatched by the early trains to all parts of the country. It is a large forty-column sheet, containing a great amount of news, mercantile intelligence, and general information, of the latest and most important character.

Any person sending the cash for five Daily subscribers will be entitled to an additional copy FREE.

The Tri-Weekly Globe

is issued every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, at $4 per annum. It is printed on a large sheet, and contains an immense amount of readable matter. In its columns is given all that appears in the daily edition, with the telegraphic and other news to the latest moment.

The Weekly Globe—New Series.

On Friday, 2nd of January, 1857, the Weekly Globe was issued in a new form, greatly enlarged and improved. It is on an immense sheet of paper of a superior quality to any heretofore used; it is made up in a handsome quarto form, comprising eight pages of seven columns each; and contains more reading matter than any other political newspaper on the continent. Great improvements are made in the compilation of the paper; the news is carefully collected from the daily edition, and articles specially prepared for its columns; and an experienced agricultural writer is employed in conducting a department devoted to agricultural subjects. The market reports at home and abroad receive increased attention.

Notwithstanding these improvements Two Dollars will continue to be the annual fee, but with this difference, that all subscriptions must be paid CASH DOWN. To induce exertion on the part of the friends of the Globe throughout the country, it has been resolved that any person making up a Club may have

Ten copies for.....$15
Twenty-five copies for.....35
Eighty copies for.....100

Any person sending the cash for five Weekly subscribers will be entitled to a free copy.

The Weekly Globe will be sent to all clergymen for $1 a year.

Money Letters addressed to "The Publisher of the Globe, Toronto," can be registered by payment of one penny and their safe arrival will be at the risk of the publisher.

Subscribers may commence at any period of the year, and may made for any term—and persons desirous of receiving the paper need not wait for an agent to call on them but have only to enclose their money with their name and post office, to

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY.

SIR JAMES CLARKE'S

Celebrated Female Pills.

PROTECTED BY ROYAL LETTERS PATENT

Prepared from a prescription of Sir James Clarke, M. D. Physician Extraordinary to the Queen. This invaluable Medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases incident to the female constitution.

It moderates all excess, removes all obstructions, and brings on the monthly period with regularity. These Pills should be used two or three weeks previous to confinement; they fortify the constitution, and lessen the suffering during labor, enabling the mother to perform her duties with safety to herself and child.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pain in the Back and Limbs, Heavines, Fatigue on Slight Exertion, Palpitation of the Heart, Lowness of Spirits, Hysterics, Sick Headache, Whites and all the painful diseases, occasioned by a disordered system, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed, and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or any other mineral.

IMPORTANT TO ALL.

The Sickness of one individual affects the Health of the Community.

Dr. JAMES McINTOSH'S

Stomach & Liver Pills.

The Blood is itself alive and is the life of the animal.

Every part of the body is sustained by the Blood.

The Blood, like every other portion of the System, needs continually to be purified and renewed. If the Stomach be disordered, and the Liver congested, a due supply of healthy Blood cannot be maintained. If the Stomach, Liver, and Intestines properly perform their functions;—exposure to the contagion of Disease, the Malaria of marshy districts, and other impurities of the air, shocks the nervous system, continued cold, and excessive fatigue, will fail to induce Disease.

Dr. James McIntosh's STOMACH and LIVER PILLS are specially adapted to promote a healthy action of the Stomach; and to remove Congestion, and promote the secretion of healthy bile from the Liver; and, at the same time, a healthy discharge from the Bowels, Skin, and Kidneys. Consequently, while they excite to healthy action, all the natural drains are opened, and Disease is driven from the Body.

NEVER DESPAIR!

While there is Life there is Hope. Thousands who have suffered for years, have been restored to health by this Invaluable Medicine. It is especially adapted to

Chronic or Lingering Complaints

All should take it who are afflicted with,—

Indigestion, Stone and Gravel, Sore Throat, Liver Complaints, Colic, Tic Doloreux, Headache, Rheumatism, Erysipelas, Constipation of the Bowels, Piles, Female Irregularities, Retention of Urine, Lumbago, Asthma, Gout, Jaundice, Ague, Blotches on the Skin, &c., &c.
